executive level appointments!

JMA Communication's mission has always been to provide people at all levels within the sales operation; from inbound sales to group sales director.

In just 3 years we have developed fantastic relationships with some of the biggest names in the telecoms industry. As a result we are now regularly called upon to search out some of the best executives and general managers in the business.

Given that we only work within the telecoms sector, we have an extensive network of potential employers. A proactive approach on your behalf could be all that it takes to secure your next career move.
